

Discover the Elegance of our Honed Quartz

Explore two distinct finishes within the PentalQuartz® product line, polished and honed. Each finish offers a unique appearance along with subtly different performance characteristics. Discover the elegance of our honed quartz, and learn how to best treat it overtime.

PentalQuartz® is a beautiful, durable, and easy-to-maintain surface. Our honed finish designs offer the softer look of a low-sheen texture. The more subdued appearance of honed quartz complements a variety of design styles, from rustic to contemporary, offering greater flexibility in interior design choices.

While there are many advantages to selecting honed designs, the finish may require slightly more maintenance than polished finished materials, as it can show signs of everyday use more easily. Honed quartz lacks the reflective qualities of polished surfaces, making fingerprints, cookware marks, and food or beverage residue more noticeable. Additionally, the slightly rougher texture surface can retain oils and residues, increasing the visibility of smudges and marks. That said, most marks can be easily cleaned using a non-abrasive cleaner, such as Soft Scrub Advanced Cleaner, along with a cleaning eraser.

Over time, honed finishes naturally develop a patina that reflects the homeowner's individual usage patterns, adding character and a lived-in aesthetic to the surface.

For specific guidelines on best practices for cleaning and maintenance, please reference the Supporting Documents page on our website.